I. Key terms

(1) Minors: Natural persons under 18 years of age.

(2) Rákóczi Camp refers to, for the purposes of this Code of Conduct, the entire premises of the Rákóczi Hotel, Camp and Event Centre and Hotel Princeps, located at H-3980 Sátoraljaújhely, V. István király útja 123., Hungary.

(3) Participant refers to all natural persons who intend to attend, or who attend, Camps organized by the Rákóczi Association, including, but not limited to, minor and adult students, university students, accompanying teachers, organizers, and Camp staff, as well as any other persons who participate in Camp activities or assist in the organization or operation of the Camp.

(4) Camp refers to, for the purposes of this Code of Conduct, any programme or organized activity, typically lasting more than one day, organized by the Rákóczi Association, in the course of which the Rákóczi Association provides Participants with supervision, organized activities and, where applicable, meals and/or accommodation.

II. Purpose and scope of this Code of Conduct

(1) The purpose of this Code of Conduct is to establish clear, consistent, and transparent rules, known to all Participants in advance, for every Camp organized by the Rákóczi Association, in order to ensure a safe and respectful Camp environment.

(2) This Code of Conduct shall apply throughout the entire duration of every Camp organized by the Rákóczi Association, on the Camp premises, at the venues where meals are served (whether on or off the Camp premises), and during all off-site activities, excursions, and travel organized in connection with the Camp.

(3) This Code of Conduct shall apply to all Participants of the Camp.

III. Basic provisions

(1) Express acceptance of, and compliance with, the Code of Conduct is a condition of participation in the Camp.

(2) Participants in the Camp are required to respect one another's human dignity, physical and mental integrity, privacy, right to rest, and property rights.

(3) All Participants are required to comply with the instructions of the Rákóczi Association, the organizers, and the accompanying teachers where such instructions are given in the interests of safety, order, health protection, the proper conduct of the programme, or compliance with this Code of Conduct.

(4) In the event of any emergency or other extraordinary situation, including but not limited to fire, a bomb threat, a natural hazard, an accident, a missing person, a serious medical incident, an animal bite, multiple insect stings, or any other situation affecting the safety of Participants, all Participants are required to follow without delay the instructions of the Rákóczi Association, the accompanying teachers, the security personnel, and the competent authorities.

(5) Throughout the Rákóczi Camp, all Participants are required to help maintain cleanliness and preserve the order of the environment. Waste must be disposed of only in the designated bins or waste receptacles. Littering is prohibited anywhere on the Camp premises, as well as at all communal and off-site programme venues.

(6) To reduce the amount of waste and help maintain a clean and orderly camp environment, Participants are required, where practicable, to flatten cardboard boxes and other compressible packaging before placing them in the designated waste bins. Hazardous waste – including, in particular, batteries, rechargeable batteries, electronic waste, chemicals, medicines, or any other substances hazardous to the environment or human health – must not be disposed of together with general waste. Participants must notify the Rákóczi Association or their accompanying teacher of any such hazardous waste so that it can be disposed of appropriately.

(7) Throughout the Rákóczi Camp, all Participants are required to use electricity sparingly and only for its intended purposes. Lights and electrical or electronic devices must be switched off when not in use, particularly when Participants leave their rooms, lounges, corridors, or other common areas.

(8) Participants must refrain from any conduct that may result in unnecessary energy consumption, overloading of the electrical system, or the creation of a fire or safety hazard. Personal electrical devices may be used only for their intended purpose, provided they are in safe working condition and used in accordance with the rules established by the Rákóczi Association.

(9) For the safety and security of Participants, organizers, contributors, and other visitors, as well as for the protection of property, the Rákóczi Camp is equipped with a CCTV system, remote security monitoring, and on-site security personnel.

(10) The CCTV system is operated exclusively in accordance with applicable laws, data protection requirements, and the Rákóczi Association's Privacy Notice. It is not directed at, nor does it monitor, any area where surveillance would infringe upon human dignity, privacy, or personal decency, including, in particular, bedrooms, bathrooms, toilets, changing rooms, or any other area of a similar nature.

(11) Participants are required to cooperate with the lawful and proper instructions of the security personnel where such instructions are given to maintain order within the Camp, ensure the safety of Participants, or protect property.

(12) Participants are required to immediately notify the Rákóczi Association or their accompanying teacher of any circumstance that may endanger their own or another person's life, physical integrity, health, property, or the safe operation of the Camp.

IV. Arrival, registration, and rules concerning presence and supervision

(1) Upon arrival at the Camp, Participants must report to the designated registration point, where their attendance will be recorded, the required declarations will be verified, and they will receive information regarding room assignments and the arrangements for communication with their accompanying teacher.

(2) For the purpose of verifying Participants' identity, the Rákóczi Association may require the presentation of a photo identification document, student identification card, or another form of identification approved in advance. If a Participant is unable to provide such identification, their participation may be restricted until their identity has been verified.

(3) Minors may participate in the Camp only with the prior consent of their parent or legal guardian and provided that the contact details of the parent or legal guardian have been supplied in advance. If any incident occurs that requires the parent or legal guardian to be notified, the accompanying teacher or the Rákóczi Association shall notify them without delay.

(4) Adult Participants are not required to obtain the consent of a parent or legal guardian in order to participate in the Camp. However, they are required to comply with the Camp programme schedule and this Code of Conduct in the same manner as minor Participants.

(5) Participants may leave the Camp premises only in accordance with the procedures set out in this Code of Conduct and with the prior permission of the Rákóczi Association or the designated accompanying teacher.

(6) To ensure the safety of Participants, the Rákóczi Association may verify attendance records, room assignments, and group numbers, and may conduct an unscheduled headcount in the event of an emergency or other extraordinary situation.

V. Rooms, camp lodging, and rules of accommodation assignment

(1) Camp rooms are single-sex. Rooms may be occupied only by persons of the same sex. This rule applies equally to minor and adult students, university students, and accompanying teachers.

(2) When assigning accommodation, the Rákóczi Association seeks, wherever possible, to accommodate Participants from the same educational institution or the same locality in the same accommodation unit. As a result, male and female Participants from the same educational institution or locality may be accommodated in the same building, but always in separate, single-sex rooms. In light of this arrangement, the Rákóczi Association places particular emphasis on compliance with the following rules of conduct:

a) Entering a room designated for members of the opposite sex is prohibited, except in an emergency and only with the prior permission of, and in the presence of, the Rákóczi Association or an accompanying teacher.

b) Participants may be present in a room other than their own only at the times and in the manner authorized by the accompanying teacher or the Rákóczi Association. From the beginning of the designated night-time quiet hours, all Participants must remain in their own assigned rooms.

c) Furniture, beds, mattresses, bedding, fixtures, and other equipment listed on the room inventory sheet must be used only for their intended purpose. Upon departure, rooms must be left clean and returned in the same condition and layout as when they were received. In the event of damage to, or loss of, any room furnishings or equipment, the person responsible shall be liable for the resulting damage. If the person responsible cannot be identified, all occupants of the room shall be jointly and severally liable for the cost of the damage.

d) Any technical fault, safety hazard, damage, missing item, or other irregularity identified in a room must be reported without delay to the accompanying teacher or the Rákóczi Association.

e) Waste must be disposed of in the designated bins located in the rooms, bathrooms, and common areas. On the day of departure, all waste must be removed from rooms, wardrobes, waste bins, and bedding storage compartments.

VI. Daily schedule, participation in activities, and night-time quiet hours

(1) The Camp's programmes, presentations, activities, and community events form an integral part of the Camp. Participation in these activities is mandatory unless the Rákóczi Association expressly designates a particular activity as optional or authorizes a Participant's absence for health, safety, or other justified reasons.

(2) Night-time quiet hours generally begin at 11:00 p.m. The Rákóczi Association may vary this time, provided Participants are informed in advance, where this is justified by the nature of the Camp programme.

(3) From the beginning of the designated night-time quiet hours until 8:00 a.m., all Participants must remain in their assigned bedrooms. To ensure quiet, safety, and appropriate supervision, the accompanying teachers and the Rákóczi Association may carry out random compliance checks during this period.

(4) During the designated night-time quiet hours, Participants must not make excessive noise, listen to music in a manner that disturbs others, shout, slam doors, loiter in corridors, or otherwise disrupt the rest of other Participants.

VII. Health protection, medications, and first aid

(1) Only persons feeling healthy and showing no symptoms of a communicable disease may participate in the Camp or enter the Rákóczi Camp premises. This must be confirmed by a medical declaration submitted by each Participant in advance. The medical declaration must also include information regarding the Participant's allergies, food or medication sensitivities, chronic medical conditions, and any medications taken on a regular basis, including their dosage. The Rákóczi Association accepts no liability for any consequences arising from inaccurate or incomplete information provided by a Participant in the medical declaration.

(2) In the event of a fever, vomiting, diarrhoea, or suspected communicable disease, the Rákóczi Association may isolate the Participant, arrange for a medical examination, notify the Participant's parent or legal guardian, next of kin, or employer, and, where considered necessary, require the Participant to leave the Camp before the scheduled end of the programme.

(3) Any Participant who experiences or observes illness, an allergic reaction, symptoms of a suspected communicable disease, an injury, or an accident must report it without delay to the accompanying teacher or the Rákóczi Association.

(4) In view of the risk of known and previously unknown drug allergies, Participants must not give, offer, or share any medication with another Participant.

(5) Participants who rely on life-saving medication, particularly those with severe allergies, asthma, or other chronic medical conditions, must ensure that their prescribed medication or required medical device is readily accessible to them throughout the duration of the Camp.

(6) In the event of infection risk, vomiting, diarrhoea, fever, severe allergic reaction, head injury, loss of consciousness, animal bite or sting, multiple insect stings, or any other serious incident, the accompanying teacher and the Rákóczi Association shall, without delay, arrange for appropriate medical care, notify the Participant's parent or legal guardian, next of kin, or employer, as applicable, and ensure that the incident is properly documented.

(7) Given the nature of the Camp, Participants are required to comply with all guidance provided on the prevention of tick bites, insect bites and stings, heatstroke, dehydration, and injuries.

VIII. Fire safety, equipment use, sports activities and accident prevention

(1) Campfires may be lit only with the prior permission of the Rákóczi Association, in designated areas, and under adult supervision.

(2) Sports equipment, games, technical equipment, and communal facilities may be used only for their intended purpose and in compliance with all applicable safety rules.

(3) Participants must not engage in any behaviour that endangers their own or another person's physical safety, or that may damage the buildings, equipment, or surrounding environment of the Rákóczi Camp.

(4) The Rákóczi Association will provide specific safety rules governing the use of waterfront areas, forests, elevated terrain, sports facilities, and off-site programme venues before the relevant activity. Compliance with these rules is mandatory.

(5) Participants may take part in waterfront, water-based, forest, sports, or off-site activities only with the permission of the Rákóczi Association, as part of the designated group, and under the supervision of the accompanying teacher or the Rákóczi Association. Leaving the group without permission, swimming without authorization, entering restricted or hazardous areas, or disregarding storm warnings or other safety instructions constitutes a major infringement of this Code of Conduct.

(6) During sports activities and related programmes, Participants are required to wear clothing and footwear appropriate for safe participation. The Rákóczi Association may prohibit or restrict the wearing of jewellery, accessories, items with cords or straps, or any other items that may pose a safety risk or cause injury.

(7) Participants may use sports or recreational equipment only at their own risk, provided they have received and understood the applicable safety instructions and comply with the relevant safety rules.

IX. Meals, hygiene, and community spaces

(1) The Rákóczi Association shall determine the schedule, timing, and venue of meals in advance. Individual meal times may be accommodated only for health-related or organizational reasons that have been communicated in advance and approved by the Association.

(2) It is prohibited to remove crockery, glasses, cutlery or food from the dining area without the prior permission of the Rákóczi Association.

(3) The storage of perishable food, large quantities of sweets or beverages, or food requiring refrigeration in camp rooms is not recommended due to possible health or hygiene risks. Where justified, the Rákóczi Association may require such items to be removed or disposed of.

(4) Information regarding special dietary requirements, food allergies, or food intolerances is provided in the Participant's medical declaration. The Rákóczi Association will fully take this information into account and, where necessary, adjust the Participant's meal arrangements accordingly. The Rákóczi Association accepts no liability for any consequences arising from inaccurate or incomplete information provided by the Participant in the medical declaration.

(5) Bathrooms, showers, toilets, and common areas must be used for their intended purpose, kept clean, and used with due consideration for the needs of others. No items other than toilet paper may be flushed down the toilet. All other hygiene products must be disposed of in the waste bin next to the toilet.

(6) Participants are required to observe proper personal hygiene practices, including, in particular, washing their hands before meals and after sports activities, contact with animals, outdoor or forest activities, using the restroom, or using shared equipment.

(7) To reduce the risk of infection, the Rákóczi Association reserves the right to introduce hygiene or public health measures. Compliance with such measures is mandatory for all Participants.

X. Valuables and electronic devices

(1) The Rákóczi Association strongly discourages Participants from bringing high-value electronic devices, jewellery, large amounts of cash, laptops, other smart devices, or any other valuables to the Rákóczi Camp. Participants are responsible for safeguarding their own personal belongings. The Rákóczi Association accepts no liability for valuables brought into the Camp that have not been formally deposited with the Association for safekeeping.

(2) Participants' use of mobile phones and other electronic devices must not disrupt activities, presentations and rest periods, nor infringe upon the privacy and personal rights of others.

(3) The Rákóczi Association recommends that Participants label their clothing, luggage, and personal belongings with their name or another form of identification.

(4) Any lost property found by Participants must be immediately handed over to their accompanying teacher or to the Rákóczi Association. The Rákóczi Association shall determine the procedures for the safekeeping and return of lost property.

(5) Photographs, audio recordings, or video recordings of other Participants, organizers, or members of the Camp staff may be made only in a manner that respects the rights of the persons concerned, does not disturb or causes inconvenience to them, and complies with the Camp's data protection rules. The creation, transmission, or publication of any recording that is humiliating, harassing, abusive, made without the necessary consent, or damaging to the reputation of the Camp is prohibited and constitutes a major infringement of this Code of Conduct.

(6) The use of concealed, disguised, or continuously recording devices capable of capturing images or audio, including, in particular, camera-equipped glasses or similar devices, is prohibited on the Camp premises and during Camp activities without the prior permission of the Rákóczi Association.

XI. Special rules applicable to minors

(1) In the event of a major infringement of this Code of Conduct by a minor, the minor's parent or legal guardian shall be notified in every case.

(2) During the Camp, minors remain under the supervision of the Rákóczi Association, the accompanying teacher, and any designated supervisors. Minors are prohibited from the Camp premises or any programme venue without prior permission.

(3) Minors may leave the Camp before the scheduled end of the programme, or be collected from the Camp by a person other than the accompanying teacher or the minor's parent or legal guardian, only with the prior written consent of the parent or legal guardian and the approval of the Rákóczi Association.

(4) Minors are obliged to immediately report to the accompanying teacher any incident of abuse, harassment, bullying, threats, as well as any health concern, dangerous situation, or infringement of this Code of Conduct that they experience or become aware of.

(5) During activities, off-site programmes, meals, group travel, or the designated night-time quiet hours, a minor may leave their designated group only with the prior permission of the Rákóczi Association, the accompanying teacher, or the person responsible for the activity. Leaving the group without permission creates a risk of a missing-person incident or accident and therefore constitutes a major infringement of this Code of Conduct.

(6) Conflicts between minors shall be addressed by the accompanying teacher and the Rákóczi Association. Vigilantism, retaliation, threats, or humiliating conduct are prohibited and constitute a major infringement of this Code of Conduct.

XII. Special rules applicable to adult students and university students

(1) For the purposes of this Code of Conduct, adult students shall be treated in the same manner as minor students and, unless otherwise provided in this subsection, are required to comply with the Camp rules, the programme schedule, room assignment arrangements, and the rules governing alcohol consumption and smoking.

(2) For the purposes of this Code of Conduct, Participants who are university students shall be treated in the same manner as accompanying teachers and, unless otherwise provided in this subsection or by provisions that apply exclusively to accompanying teachers, shall comply with the Camp rules, the programme schedule, room assignments, and the rules governing alcohol consumption and smoking.

(3) In the event of a major infringement of this Code of Conduct by an adult student, the student's parent or legal guardian shall be notified in every case. This provision does not apply to Participants who are university students.

(4) Adult students and Participants who are university students shall not, having regard to the Camp's community standards, child safeguarding requirements, and safety rules, misuse their status as adults, encourage minor Participants to breach this Code of Conduct, or engage in conduct that may set a negative example for minors.

(5) Adult students or Participants who are university students shall not, by virtue of being an adult, be entitled to accompany minors without appropriate supervision, provide minors with alcohol, tobacco products, or any other prohibited substance, or organize activities without the prior permission of the Rákóczi Association. Any breach of this provision constitutes a major infringement of this Code of Conduct.

(6) Adult students and Participants who are university students shall exercise a heightened duty of care towards minor Participants. Influencing minors, encouraging them to breach this Code of Conduct, or placing them at risk constitutes a major infringement of this Code of Conduct.

(7) Adult students and Participants who are university students may leave the Camp premises only in accordance with the check-out procedure established by the Rákóczi Association. The Camp's security and attendance procedures shall apply to them in the same manner.

XIII. Special rules applicable to accompanying teachers

(1) Accompanying teachers may not assume responsibilities that fall within the exclusive decision-making authority of the Rákóczi Association. However, accompanying teachers are required to carry out and document the attendance, supervision, communication, incident management, information-sharing, and parent or legal guardian notification support tasks delegated to them.

(2) Accompanying teachers are responsible for recording any medications brought by students and for ensuring that such medications are administered or taken in accordance with the prescribed dosage.

(3) Accompanying teachers are required to familiarise themselves with any medication, food, or other allergies, sensitivities, and other relevant health conditions of the students under their supervision that have been disclosed to the Rákóczi Association in advance. The accompanying teacher shall maintain a record of such information to the extent necessary and shall exercise the highest standard of care reasonably expected of them to help ensure that the students under their supervision avoid known allergens and other circumstances posing a health risk throughout the duration of the Camp. This obligation includes, in particular, monitoring the allergy- or sensitivity-related risks associated with meals, Camp activities, and accommodation, and, where necessary, notifying the Rákóczi Association and the person or organization responsible for catering, and, where appropriate, the student's parent or legal guardian, without delay.

(4) Accompanying teachers are not authorized to make independent decisions on medical matters requiring professional medical, healthcare, or pharmaceutical expertise. In such cases, the accompanying teacher must, without delay, seek the assistance of the Rákóczi Association and, where necessary, the appropriate healthcare services.

(5) Accompanying teachers are required to participate in the duty, night-time supervision, programme supervision, and inspection arrangements established by the Rákóczi Association.

(6) Accompanying teachers are prohibited from authorizing any behaviour that is contrary to this Code of Conduct, the Camp programme schedule, or the instructions of the Rákóczi Association. In the event of any conflict between a decision of the accompanying teacher and a decision of the Rákóczi Association, the decision of the Rákóczi Association shall prevail.

(7) Accompanying teachers are required to document, or ensure the documentation of, all accidents, illnesses, absences, missing-person incidents, conflicts, reports of abuse or child protection concerns, breaches of this Code of Conduct, and damage to property.

(8) Accompanying teachers are required to verify the attendance of the group under their supervision at departure, upon arrival, when changing activities, before or after meals, and before the commencement of the designated night-time quiet hours. Any discrepancy must be reported to the Rákóczi Association without delay.

XIV. Major infringements

(1) Nudity is prohibited throughout the entire area of the Camp, including in accommodation facilities, common areas, and during all camp activities. Participants must also refrain from any form of dress or conduct that is incompatible with generally accepted standards of community behaviour, public decency, or the requirement to provide a safe and respectful camp environment, particularly for minor participants.

(2) Participants are required to wear clothing that is appropriate for the weather conditions, the nature of the activity, the camp environment, and generally accepted standards of public conduct, and that ensures appropriate standards of decency. While on the Camp premises and during activities at external venues, Participants must refrain from any appearance or behaviour that may offend the dignity of others or compromise their comfort or sense of safety.

(3) During the Camp, whether on or off the Camp premises, Participants are prohibited from engaging in sexual activity, inducing or encouraging others to engage in such activity, or assisting in such activity. Participants are also prohibited from engaging in any indecent, harassing, provocative, offensive, disorderly, or otherwise inappropriate conduct that violates the dignity or rights of others.

(4) Throughout the Camp, during all camp activities on or off the Camp premises, and in any online or in-person communication related to the Camp, Participants are prohibited from engaging in any verbal, written, visual, symbolic, or other conduct that humiliates, excludes, intimidates, threatens, harasses, incites hatred or violence against, or otherwise violates the dignity of any individual or group on the basis of, in particular, their nationality, ethnicity, race, religion, sex, disability, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, social status, or any other protected characteristic.

(5) Throughout the Camp, during all camp activities on or off the Camp premises, and in all in-person and online communication related to the Camp, Participants are required to respect the dignity, personality rights, privacy, reputation, and rights relating to the image and voice recordings of others.

(6) Photographs, audio recordings, or video recordings of any Participant, organizer, speaker, contributor, or any other person present at the Rákóczi Camp may be made or published only with the prior consent of the person concerned. Recordings of minor Participants may be published only in accordance with applicable laws, data protection requirements, and, where required, with the consent of the minor's parent or legal guardian.

(7) It is prohibited to secretly or deceptively make photographs, audio recordings, or video recordings of another person, or to record them in a harassing, humiliating, vulnerable, indecent, sexually explicit, or otherwise privacy-infringing situation. It is also prohibited to possess, transmit, share, publish, or otherwise make such recordings available to others.

(8) Throughout Camp premises and in connection with all Camp activities, it is strictly prohibited to create, possess, transmit, share, publish, or otherwise distribute, or to encourage or solicit the creation, transmission, or sharing of, any photograph, audio recording, or video recording that is pornographic, sexually explicit, indecent, humiliating, or otherwise violates the dignity of another person.

(9) Student Participants, regardless of their age, must not consume or possess alcohol, or be under the influence of alcohol, at any time during the Camp, whether on the Camp premises or at any off-site venue associated with Camp activities.

(10) Accompanying teachers may consume alcohol only in moderation and only at a time and to an extent that does not compromise the safe supervision of students, the orderly conduct of Camp activities, or the proper performance of their duties. Participants who are university students may consume alcohol only in moderation and only to the extent that it does not endanger their own or another person's physical safety or the security of property. An accompanying teacher must not consume alcohol to such an extent that it impairs their ability to supervise students, respond to emergencies, cooperate with the Rákóczi Association, or fulfil their responsibilities as an accompanying teacher.

(11) To ensure the safety of minor and adult students and university student Participants, maintain good order within the Camp, and verify the proper performance of accompanying teachers' duties, the Rákóczi Association may require a Participant to cooperate with a breath alcohol test where there are reasonable grounds to believe, based on the Participant's behaviour, speech, movements, or any other relevant circumstances, that they are under the influence of alcohol. Any such test shall be carried out solely for the stated purpose, in a proportionate manner, with due respect for the dignity of the person concerned and, where practicable, in the presence of a witness. The Rákóczi Association shall prepare a written record of the test and its results.

(12) The Rákóczi Association shall not use coercive measures to compel a Participant to undergo a breath alcohol test. A Participant's obligation to cooperate with such testing arises from their acceptance of this Code of Conduct and the conditions governing participation in, or involvement with, the Camp. Where a Participant unreasonably refuses to cooperate with a justified breath alcohol test and, in light of the circumstances, there remain reasonable grounds to believe that the Participant is under the influence of alcohol, such refusal shall constitute a major infringement of this Code of Conduct.

(13) For the purposes of this Code of Conduct, a Participant shall be deemed to be under the influence of alcohol, in particular, where a breath alcohol test indicates a breath alcohol concentration exceeding 0.25 mg/l, or where another reliable test or an official or medical determination establishes a blood alcohol concentration exceeding 0.50 g/l. Notwithstanding these thresholds, the Rákóczi Association may determine that a Participant has committed a major infringement of this Code of Conduct even where a lower alcohol concentration is recorded, if, based on the Participant's behaviour, responsiveness, speech, movements, or general condition, the Participant poses a risk to their own safety, the safety of any other person, or the security of property.

(14) Where a Participant is under the influence of alcohol, is unfit to perform the duties of an accompanying teacher due to alcohol consumption, unreasonably refuses to undergo a breath alcohol test, or consumes alcohol in a manner that endangers the safety of Participants, the Rákóczi Association may impose the sanctions applicable to a major infringement of this Code of Conduct.

(15) The possession, bringing onto the Camp premises, use, supply, or distribution of narcotic drugs, psychoactive substances, performance-enhancing substances, or any equipment or paraphernalia intended for their use is prohibited and constitutes a major infringement of this Code of Conduct.

(16) In view of the heightened fire risk, any breach of the rules governing smoking, fire lighting, or the use of open flames constitutes a major infringement of this Code of Conduct.

(17) Smoking is prohibited on the Camp premises, in Camp buildings, and during all Camp activities. Accompanying teachers and Participants who are university students may smoke only at the times and in the designated areas specified by the Rákóczi Association. Any smoking by a minor constitutes a major infringement of this Code of Conduct.

(18) Tobacco smoking substitutes or imitation smoking devices, electronic cigarettes, nicotine-containing or nicotine-free alternative smoking products, and any other legally available substance or device that, if misused, may cause intoxication, impairment, stimulation, or other harmful effects on health, must not be brought onto the Camp premises and may not be possessed or used by Participants.

(19) Participants must not bring onto the Camp premises or to any off-site programme venue any item or substance that may endanger life, physical safety, health, property, or the good order of the Camp. This includes, in particular, firearms or imitation firearms, knives or other stabbing or cutting implements, pyrotechnic devices, fire-lighting equipment, explosive or flammable substances, and any other hazardous item not required for participation in the Camp.

XV. Sanctions

(1) In responding to breaches of this Code of Conduct, the Rákóczi Association shall act in accordance with the principle of proportionality. A written incident report shall be prepared in every case of a breach. Taking into account the seriousness and any repeated nature of the breach, the available facts and evidence, and following an individual assessment of the circumstances, the Rákóczi Association may impose proportionate measures, including a warning, temporary or permanent exclusion from the Camp, notification of the accompanying teacher, parent or legal guardian, or employer, supervised separation from other Participants, a claim for compensation, and, where appropriate, notification of the competent authorities. The preparation of an incident report shall not be a prerequisite for taking immediate measures necessary to ensure safety.

(2) The following, in particular but not exclusively, require immediate and undelayed action: violence, physical abuse, harassment, sexual misconduct or other sexual offences, possession or use of alcohol or psychoactive substances, fire-related hazards or dangerous conduct, leaving the Camp without authorization, theft, vandalism, hate speech, self-harm, or any other act that endangers the physical or mental well-being of the Participant or any other person.

(3) Major infringement of this Code of Conduct may result in the Participant's immediate exclusion from the Camp and removal from the Camp premises, as well as notification of the Participant's parent or legal guardian, educational institution, employer, and, where appropriate, the competent authorities. A Participant who commits a major infringement is required to leave the Camp. For this purpose, the Rákóczi Association will notify the person or organization able to arrange the Participant's safe transportation home or removal from the Camp.

(4) The Rákóczi Association further reserves the right to exclude a Participant having breached this Code of Conduct from participation in any future Camps or other programmes organized by the Rákóczi Association.

(5) If a major infringement of this Code of Conduct is committed by an accompanying teacher, the Rákóczi Association shall notify the relevant educational institution without delay and request that it designate another suitable adult to provide supervision in place of the accompanying teacher. If the educational institution is unable to provide a suitable replacement and the safe and continuous supervision of the students cannot otherwise be ensured, the students belonging to the affected educational institution shall be required to leave the Camp together with the accompanying teacher. In such circumstances, the students shall not, in the absence of any breach of this Code of Conduct on their part, be excluded from participating in future Camps or other programmes organized by the Rákóczi Association. This provision does not apply to Participants who are university students.

(6) In the event of damage to property, the person responsible for the damage – or, where the person responsible is a minor, their parent or legal guardian – shall be liable to compensate for the damage in accordance with the applicable rules of civil law.

(7) Where a Participant is excluded from the Camp or required to leave the Camp as a result of a major infringement of this Code of Conduct, any Camp participation fee or contribution already paid, whether in whole or in part, shall not be refunded. The same shall apply where, following the exclusion of an accompanying teacher, the relevant educational institution is unable to provide a suitable adult replacement and the affected students are therefore required to leave the Camp, notwithstanding that they have committed no breach of this Code of Conduct.

XVI. Closing provisions

(1) The Rákóczi Association shall make this Code of Conduct available to Participants before the commencement of the Camp and, in the case of minors, to their parents or legal guardians, as well as to accompanying teachers. Acknowledgement of this Code of Conduct is a condition of participation in the Camp.

(2) The Rákóczi Association may restrict entry to, participation in, or presence within the Camp, individual activities, or common areas where necessary due to capacity limits, fire safety requirements, or public health considerations. The Rákóczi Association may also direct Participants to an alternative location.

(3) Political, religious, commercial, advertising, fundraising, petitioning, or any other organized promotional or advocacy activity is prohibited on Rákóczi Camp premises.

(4) Live animals may be brought onto Rákóczi Camp premises only with the prior permission of the Rákóczi Association, except for assistance or guide dogs recognized under applicable law. The Participant bringing the animal onto the Camp premises is responsible for complying with all applicable hygiene, safety, and liability requirements relating to the animal.

(5) This Code of Conduct shall be applied together with the Camp operator's rules on fire safety, occupational and accident safety, hygiene, access control, and security. In the event of any inconsistency or overlap between this Code of Conduct and such rules, the provision that affords the higher level of protection for the safety and health of Participants and ensures compliance with applicable law shall prevail.

(6) This Code of Conduct shall enter into force upon their publication and shall remain in effect until withdrawn by the Rákóczi Association.
